T H E M E

Remembering four years—eager and deep in learning and in wisdom, stimulating with constant new interests and knowledge—warm, exciting, precious in friendships—panting and enthusiastic in keen athletic competition—thrillingly absorbing with the breathlessness of Stunt Night, and the activities of organizations—beautiful with a candle in our window and a song in the air and with the sunset behind the trees—remembering we try in our VETER-OPT to express this abundance of life at Wesleyan. Remembering, as Seniors in this vital year, 1943, we view life at our Wesleyan as it enriches us to become a part of our age, to adjust to the wings of today.

DEDICATION

At graduation when it is intensely real to us who has made this achievement most complete, we Seniors of 1943 dedicate our VETERROPT to Mr. Silas Johnson. In the greatest crisis he did what seemed impossible and kept our Wesleyan, "the oldest and best." And at the same time that he was solving the greatest problem of Wesleyannes he gave himself to us as our own sincerest friend in our individual problems, interests, and hopes. Sharing with us all the knowledge about our school, he inspired us by that trust. He made us laugh in those uncertain days with his warm teasing smile. We have been strengthened by his wisdom, his very active faith, and his genuine readiness to face problems and build his plans on reality. He simply and wonderfully taught us a big lesson, not offered in many colleges or many experiences, the grandness of one who can lose himself in an unselfish purpose. We were happy when Florida Southern College recognized the worth of our Mr. Johnson by conferring on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. For his sincerity and for the inspiration of his grand way of living and for his thoughtful interest in us individually, we dedicate our book to our finest friend, Mr. Johnson.

CLASSES

So here's to class spirit at Wesleyan—"the kind that never fails her."

Fierce struggles over the soccer ball, the breathless rivalry of green and gold on Stunt Night, funereal dirges and Soph or Frosh going up in smoke from the mound—this is class spirit.

Sisters, walks to the pharm, notes on days that we love to remember, just the slight wrinkle around the eyes as sister passes sister on the way to class, the solemn pride of hooding—this is class spirit.

And on Thanksgiving this spirit is caught in a song, rivalry mixed with honest admiration, and the refrain of "Auld Lang Syne."

The Freshman with their vitality, the Sophomores with their confident plans, the Juniors with their organization, the Seniors with their understanding make the complete, exciting spirit of Wesleyan.

SENIOR OFFICERS

FOUR GOLDEN HEART YEARS:

One to grow on—the joy of firsts; the first view of Wesleyan, the first Thanksgiving, the first strain of a Christmas carol beneath a candlelit window, the first major victory—first place on stunt night.

One to be harum-scarum on—"Hit and Muss," the call of the wild one midnight, championship in soccer, and the solemn climax—hooding the big sister.

One to become very close together on—breaks in the golden chain and the closer pulling together of the old links, little sisters, the suffering of the collective shins in soccer.

One to wish on—to wish that these four years might not be the last here, or if that can't be, that we can keep on growing on these four years in one. Wishing on the evening star over Wesleyan has taught us that the best is yet to be.

So we've still got that old four-in-one feeling. We've a bit of the freshman in our hearts, some of the lazy soph in our bones, the deep friendship of that busily-shared junior year grasped close, and the sad thrill of a senior in our very fingertips; but most of all, as we stand on that top step, we are Golden Hearts through and through.

JUNIOR OFFICERS

First there was a glorious age of the high school Senior and the approach to college. We were timid, but came with high hopes for success at Wesleyan.

Then came the Dark Ages. We returned to a dormitory with greasy doorknobs, soapy water on the floor, tooth brushes and soap in the bathtubs, and a terrific state of confusion. The Freshmen were being ratted. Our revenge was Miss Vaughn's noble act of restricting the Sophomores for two weeks.

The Dark Ages continued through the soccer season and Stunt Night. But we found some talent in our class and the Renaissance started when we beat the Sophomores at basketball. It continued when we placed first in the swimming meet.

Ratting the Freshmen was a grand success. They fell on the ground to the yell of "Air Raid, Freshmen!" until their knees were made nubs. Waiting until the soccer season to get revenge, the Freshmen nearly tore our hair out in a free-for-all.

We tried hard to keep our class out of the darkness of our previous defeats but soccer got the best of us again. We made a come-back by being awarded second place at Stunt Night for our great production "Bellzapoppin." Our place was also second in the swimming meet.

Being Juniors gave us a motherly feeling for our newly acquired Freshmen sisters but they soon proved to be more like sisters than children. Thankfully we subtracted a recently added ten years from our age.

The boy-crazy Sophomores have made capable Juniors. Proof is our rise in the soccer season. Only were we defeated in the finals by our Freshmen sisters.

To add more proof of our rise from the Dark Ages, we came to a victorious first place with our sarongs and hula girls in the class stunt. The men are thinning out but we still have an eye for pleasing them.

We cannot forget the Dark Ages but they are to us now a thing of the past. The Renaissance has started and we hope that next year will bring the heights and glory of success.

SOPHOMORE OFFICERS

It was strange not to return to the familiar halls of Freshman this year. We missed it with the deep unexpressed feeling with which one misses an old friend. It had been home to us for so long. We kept remembering those first scared moments we spent here, the nights so frequently disturbed by the clang of bells and fire-alarms, the fuss and fun of Rat Day, our soccer victories, our first Thanksgiving banquet—and oh, so many things that made up our Freshman year at Wesleyan. The dormitory was a part of all that; its walls had watched over us, and had seen our happiest and saddest hours.

That spirit didn't last very long however. It's good to be a Sophomore, to be one rung higher in our ladder of achievement, and yes, to spend those first weeks wondering how we can "rat"—instead of shivering from fear. It's grand to see the old friends again, to gather for the long talks we've missed during the past summer months. To our extreme joy, Rat Day was not long in coming. The Freshman although not quite so jubilant, were good sports about it all. We have found many friends in their class. Soon came soccer, but we don't talk about that. The Thanksgiving banquet was beautiful; we had tears in our eyes as we sang to our big sisters who won't be here next year. Then Stunt Night, another unmentionable. The Christmas banquet, the carols, and the excitement of a month's vacation mingled to form a very confused week.

We came back with the feeling that we had forgotten everything we ever knew. Exams proved that we weren't far wrong, and "burning the midnight oil" is no idle expression. We have many things before us as well as many behind us. That is the joy of being a Sophomore.

SOPHOMORES

SOPHOMORE SNAPS

• Here are our Sophomores, caught in their various moods of ups and downs. Sad are the snaps of the soccer games but otherwise that good old Sophomore spirit keeps 'em smiling.

FRESHMAN OFFICERS

I was a little cocoon. My sister, Mrs. Junior Class, wondered whether I'd turn out to be a pretty butterfly or an ugly moth. I wondered too, nestled there in the security of my little home. Then mother brought me to Wesleyan, opened the door, and let me out to try my wings.

There were so many new and bewildering things. I was shoved from one awful test to another. Classes started. It was most embarrassing because I couldn't tell a Senior from a Freshman and kept making horrible mistakes.

Things became hot for me when the Sophomores came marching through my dormitory late at night singing, "We are the Sophomores, after the Freshman class!" They held rat court for me and made me get up at dawn to do all their cleaning and other dirty work. I fell on the ground to the yell of "Dive Bombers, Freshman," until I ached from head to toe. The day ended up with a water battle, in which I drowned a few of my sorrows—meaning Sophomores.

Thanksgiving was at hand—beautiful, wonderful Thanksgiving. It was the first day that I was to attempt to fly. Scared half silly, I tried to think I was confident. At first it was terrifying, but then we won that soccer game—and another—and the championship! My Junior sister was proud and I was too. There was a banquet after the first soccer game where everyone sang to each other. It was teary and sentimental. I felt like I was growing into a butterfly instead of a moth. I had great thoughts of Wesleyan. They call it school spirit.

Along came Stunt Night and my wings fluttered shakily when my Christmas play won third place. They strengthened up when one of my class won the Ping-Pong title and another the Badminton Championship.

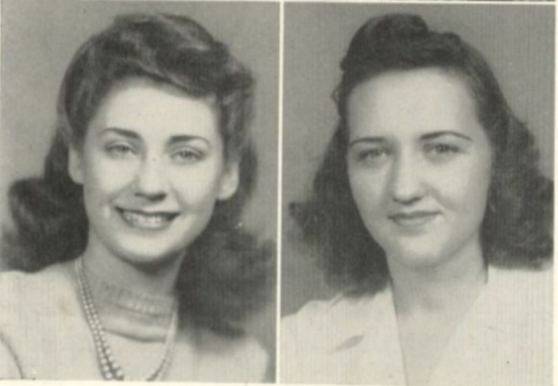

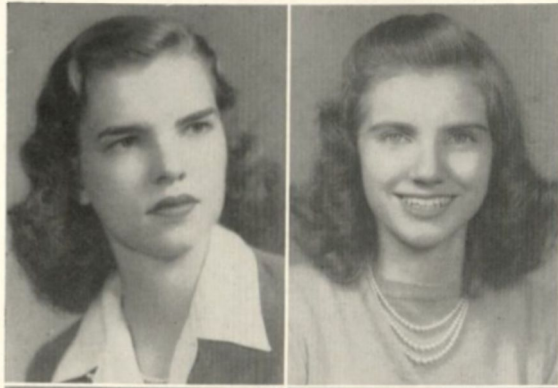

Then came unforgettable Christmas, with its packing a week too soon and a whole month at home. And, Mother! Here comes your butterfly! It was grand and glorious to feel so grownup and important. Everything was fine.

After Christmas it was a different tune. My first exams crept upon me menacingly. My wings drooped while I tried to study for a whole course in one night. Things were closing in. I tried hard, and pulled through at last. I felt that my wings had stood the hardest test. They were strong enough to carry me on to new horizons.

CONSERVATORY

Wesleyan Conservatory — where one finds all the Arts at their best. Piano, violin, voice, orchestration, sculpture, painting and design. Somehow the Tower is the symbol of all this. It is the visible reminder of all the stories of past years and the girls who have passed by in its shadow. The Conservatory, full of depth and quality—it is the home of gracious Southern ladies.

A SENIOR'S THOUGHTS . . .

There is a blessed spot I know where towers reach up to form a link between earth and heaven. A cherished place that has been dear to many generations and now is dear to me. Time cannot take from me its memory, it cannot fill with lesser things the place it occupies within my heart. Four years my sojourn here has lasted. And four years I have lived, for who can come here and not live, not gather the strength and richness of so great a place. It has become a part of me and I of it. In years to come when I return to wander once again through treasured halls, each corner will cry out its harbored memory. And I shall yearn to be young forever, for my heart will ache to return and live again as I used to live. But I know that such a thing could never be. I must go and leave my place for others that they too may have it to love.

I am a senior and all the world lies before me. When I depart a bit of my heart will remain here always in this blessed spot . . . this Wesleyan.

JUNIOR CLASS

Dear Mom:

We've just been having a bull-session. You know how it is—after dinner we all gather in one room to chat and somehow tonight the conversation got started on what the Junior Class had been doing the past three years.

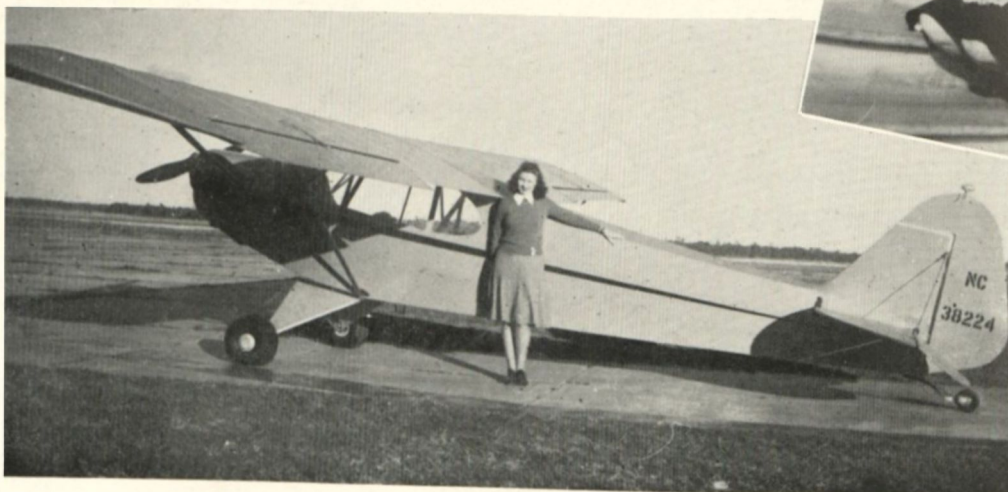

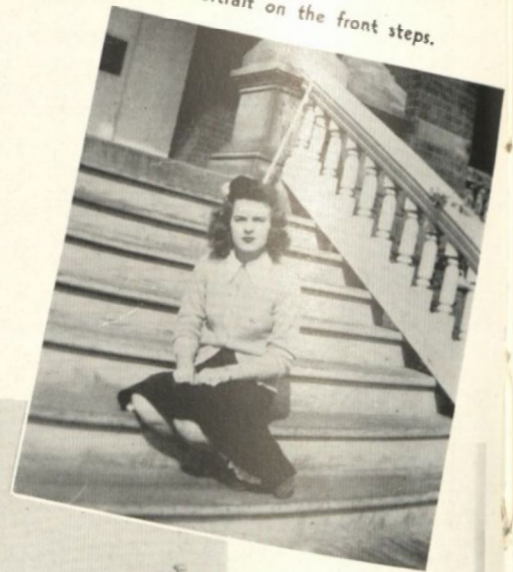

Remember, I wrote you about the first dance ever held at Wesleyan? That was when Bill sent me an orchid and one of all things I'd bought a new red evening dress! (I forgot to send you the bill.) And all our other socials, wiener roasts, scavenger hunts, etc., ah—what memories they conjure. Next year will be just as much fun too.

Now, don't look like that, Mom. You're thinking your darling child is only a social-butterfly. Now that's not so. We've pounded on those typewriters till Betty and Ethel Orr declare they're going to collapse. And Marion could do shorthand in her sleep. I really wish you could see the drawings and models that Frances and Gloria turn out. Honest, they're swell! And as Martha, the maid, put it, "Virginia sure bears down on the piano." I guess I need Carol to tell you about these things, she had a whole vocabulary of "two-bit" words she learned here.

Gosh, it's getting late, and as usual, we're scouting around to see if anyone has any food; there's nothing like a midnight feast. Uh—I know how the sugar situation is, but, well—a cake, or something from home would certainly be heavenly.

Your loving daughter.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

A SOPHOMORE PSALM OF LIFE

(With Apologies to Longfellow)

Tell me not in mournful numbers!
That bell's but an awful dream!
For this Soph in dreamland slumbers,
It's not as late as it might seem.

School is real! School is earnest!
And the degree is its goal.
In class thou were, to class returnest,
Gotta be a "cultured soul!"

Hose to mend; lux to borrow
Still all work and never play.
Clothes to wash that each tomorrow
Find us cleaner than today.

Eat we must, yet cheeks are rounding!
Though our hips are stout and sore
Every night we go on pounding
Exercises on the floor!

On the P. H.'s floor of battle,
Each passing Saturday night,
Be not like dumb driven cattle!
Be a glamour gal at sight!

Our alumnæ all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And departing leave behind us
Plaques on the doors; ivy twined.

Let us all be up and doing,
With a heart for any date,
As well as seeking and pursuing
Knowledge for our final fate.

Signed—CH-CH.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The object of the Conservatory Government is to represent and further the interests of the Student Body and to promote responsibility, self-control, and loyalty among the students. Meetings of the Council are held each week in the council room. Plans and problems of each department are discussed, and thus a greater co-operation is maintained.

The Council promotes various social activities for the students. During this year we have enjoyed an Open House in honor of the new students, and several formal dances in the spacious halls of the Conservatory. The students have also had wiener roasts and many other social activities on the campus.

The chief aim of this group is to promote co-operation, and cultivate the true Wesleyan spirit.

MISS STUBBS
Director

The Wesleyan Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Rae Stubbs began this year's program with a Christmas Concert at the Conservatory Chapel. The club plans to make these Christmas Concerts a part of its annual performances. A concert in the spring, one at Robin's Field, and a third at the recreation center will complete this year's fund of entertainment.

The Glee Club is one of the active student groups on the campus. It is composed of both Rivoli and Conservatory students, who must maintain satisfactory standing in regular courses of study in order to remain members.

The musical activity of the organization is combined with a spirit of enthusiastic fellowship and recreation.

ART CLUB

The Conservatory Art Club was organized last year for the purpose of broadening the student's outlook on art. During the year we have informal gatherings for the discussion of the problems every student artist confronts. Outside speakers enrich our viewpoint. Although the present conditions might strip the world of its beauty, it is for the young artist to rebuild that beauty in the world to come.

THE PIANO CLUB

The Piano Club has been an outstanding organization in the musical activities of the Conservatory this year. In connection with the piano literature studied many lectures and interesting recitals, both student and faculty, have been presented. The monthly programs embraced two-piano concerts, violin and piano recitals, solo piano works and lectures on the composers. The success of the club has been due to the intense interest of its members, and to the guidance of its sponsor, Professor Joseph Maerz.

ACTIVITIES

So much of the meaning of the four years at Wesleyan cannot be found in the classroom, but is found in those bull sessions at night, those walks on the golf course as a storm is coming up, dances in the gym, club meetings, working on the paper and the magazine, sitting around the log fire at the cabin, toasting sandwiches in the kitchen on Sunday night, and walking to the pharm.

PRESIDENTS' COUNCIL

The Council is composed of the presidents of the major organizations on the campus, the four class presidents and the editors of the student publications. The activities include work on the social calendar and the presentation of the nominations for officers of Student Government and Y. W. C. A. Nominations are made by president's council and are submitted to the student body for the final vote.

THE 1943

This year the VETERROPT staff has attempted to do more than merely compile a lasting record of the events and activities of the year; it has tried to capture, in some small degree, the spirit that lies beyond the curriculum—the intangible quality that makes one school different from all others.

VETERROPT

Our VETERROPT could not have been completed without the excellent work of two of our senior class. For a moment we thought we might have no VETERROPT, or a very incomplete one. But they took over a work which meant for them confusion, irritation, tedium, sometimes almost hopeless perplexity, and no glory—and which meant for us, our VETERROPT, the book of our last and best days at Wesleyan. These two were Giese and Martha. We seniors wish to set aside this page in which to try to express our thanks to Martha Nelson and Maurine Giese.

THE WESLEYAN

The WESLEYAN staff of 1942-1943 has tried to present material which the students will enjoy reading.

We felt that a student publication should be designed primarily for student pleasure and the subject matter should reflect a college girl's ideas and interests. We have tried to eliminate the use of themes and stories which were written for classes. Instead, we have tried to follow the campus trends and moods and activities by the assigning of articles. We have sought new talent and attempted to find writers of promise in the Freshman and Sophomore classes as well as among the Juniors and Seniors.

Five issues of the WESLEYAN were published this year. These contained fiction, poetry, feature articles, book reviews, and several special features built around college activities. We attempted to make the WESLEYAN amusing, entertaining and attractive as well as the reproduction of the best writing of the students.

Wesleyan
Literary
Staff

The covers featured photographs of interesting campus views and followed the moods of the seasons. Illustrations were used for articles and poems to bring in the artistic talents of students as well as their writing ability.

The scribes continued to contribute both prose and poetry to the magazine throughout the year, and the final issue consisted entirely of representative works of the members of the honorary writers' groups.

From the time of the faltering entrance of the first freshman in the fall until the unwilling exit of the last senior in the spring, the Student Government calendar is crowded with one event after another.

Retreat at the cabin, Freshman Orientation week, Student chapel every Friday, weekly meetings to plan and work out well-rounded programs, and girls in purple jackets on Dormitory Day in the spring,—all of these are representative of the part that Student Government plays in the life of each Wesleyanne.

Striving constantly to uphold the high ideals of the organization, to set a good example, and to increase the feeling of individual responsibility each girl plays her part as a member of the Student Government Association.

Several Cabinet members make "Y" plans.

Y. W. C. A.

ELIZABETH STILLWELL
President

During her four years here, every Wesleyanne carries a candle in her hand—a candle she receives at her first vesper service, dedicated to love and truth and beauty. In an atmosphere of quiet music and solemn purpose, her lighted candle makes her a part of a growing world-wide fellowship of students who are earnestly seeking to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God.

A morning devotional, a sing on the library steps, parties for the servants, Santa Claus for the orphans, a Stunt Night full of suspense, the Christmas banquet overflowing with happiness, carols sung under candle-lighted windows—these make full our life at Wesleyan.

And many more activities fill our days—activities carried on by the Cabinet members, who are chairmen of Worship, Social Service, Industrial Commission, Social Activities, and World Friendship.

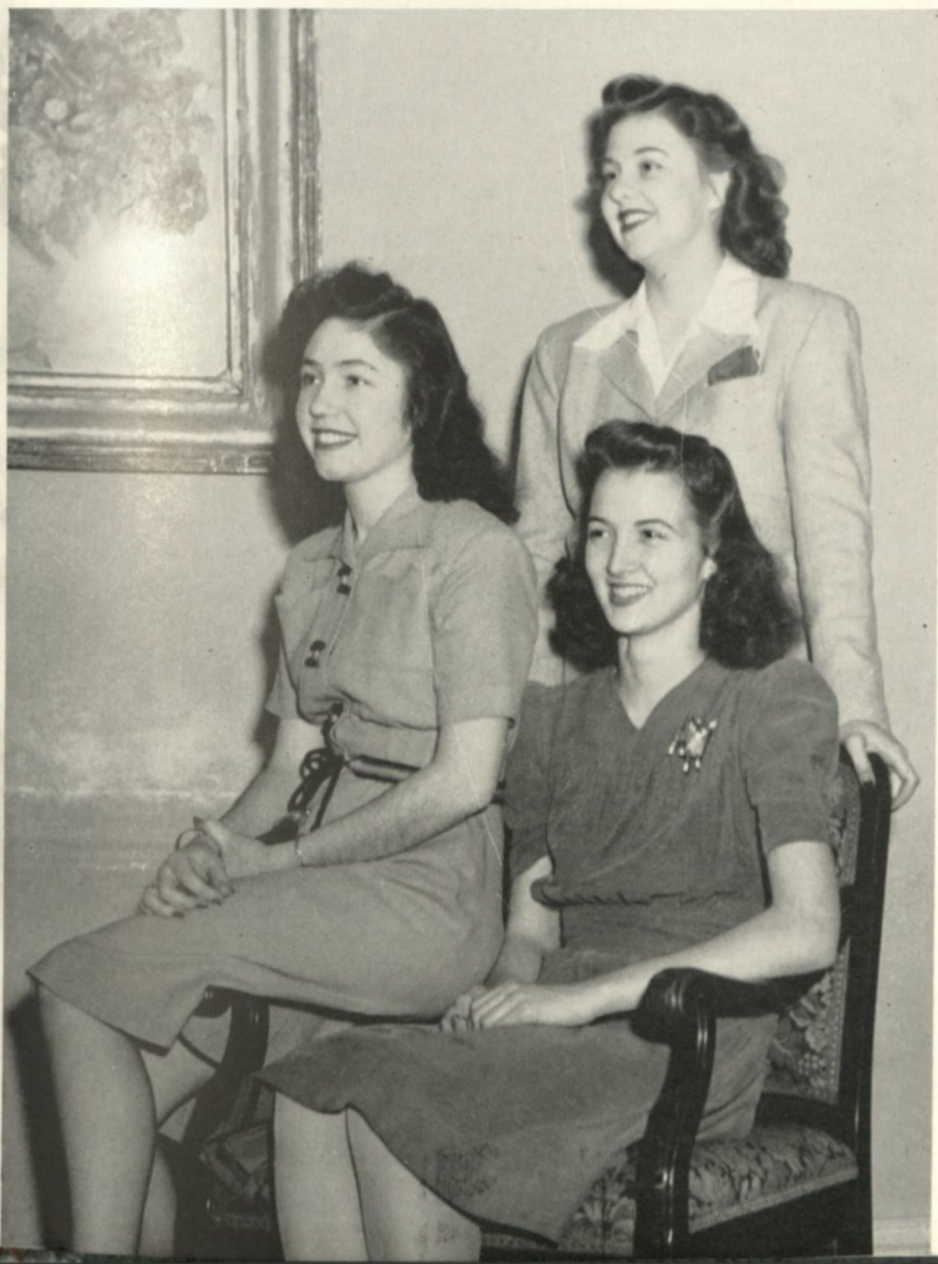

CABINET MEMBERS

Carolyn Clark, secretary; Laura Mae Griffin, treasurer; Mary Smith, vice-president.

The service of the "Y" is not limited to the campus. The girls meet industrial groups, play god-mother to the Hephzibah Orphans, direct a Negro children's play group, and take part in social work in the community. This year a dance was held in connection with our campaign to raise money to help students over the world continue their education.

The links between "Y" Cabinet and the student body are Freshman Commission, Sophomore Council, and Activity Council. These enable each student to realize her vital connection with the Y. W. C. A. and take advantage of the opportunities that lie before her.

From the stillness of the mornings at Rivoli through the rush of a busy day, the "Y" offers resources for living an abundant life.

MARION TAYLOR
President

SCRIBES

The organization is most interested in creating a spirit of unity among those students who like to write.

The Scribes, honorary literary society, founded in 1920, is made up of a group of students interested in writing. Writers devote their time not only to poetry, as when the club was first organized, but also to all types of prose.

Throughout the year Scribes have written poems, short stories, and articles for the Wesleyan and the Watchtower. The spring issue of the Wesleyan is written and edited by the Scribes.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club has attempted to keep up with the rapidly changing world during the past year.

A broader knowledge of countries throughout the world was developed by interesting speakers. Three Royal Air Force cadets led a discussion on England, and Miss Katherine Johnson spoke on the Beauties of Japan.

Miss Florence Domingos talked on South America and exhibited dolls from many of the Latin countries. The I. R. C. program for the year included a Christmas party and discussions on war and the peace to follow.

The Wesleyan Club is a member of the Georgia Conference of International Relations Clubs and is affiliated with the Carnegie Endowment for World Peace.

MAURINE GIESE
President

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL

Sophomore Council is a link of the Y. W. C. A. With money raised during the year, the members aid "Y" in some project that is selected for the year. Its purpose is to more closely connect the sophomore class with "Y" cabinet.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION

Through informal discussions of current problems both on and off the campus, Freshman Commission first year students to the various functions of "Y."

SAINT CECELIA MUSIC GUILD

The Saint Cecelia Music Guild is a new organization on the campus this year. It is made up of music majors and others interested in the musical field. The purpose of the group is to promote interest in music among the student body as a whole.

ART CLUB

Newly organized this year, the Art Club is an organization in which girls truly interested in art can receive outside information and guidance.

FRENCH CLUB

MARGARET SULLIVAN
President

At a time when Frenchmen and Americans are fighting side by side, Le Cercle Francais, an affiliate of the National Alliance Francais, has great significance.

Conducted entirely in French, the meetings serve to stimulate interest in the French people and the French language. Programs, prepared by the students, present to the members many phases of French life, especially in the fields of French art, music, and literature.

CRUCIBLE CLUB

MARY LOUISE WILLCOX
President

The Crucible Club, which was founded March 2, 1937, is composed of girls who have completed the general chemistry requirements and are particularly interested in Science.

CYCLOTHYMIC CLUB

Since 1940 students interested in gaining knowledge in psychology have been able to study and to become better acquainted with this psychology-conscious world. The name Cyclothymic means a progressive and well-balanced individual, and this is the aim of the club.

MARTHA NELSON
President

TOWN GIRLS CLUB

The Town Girls' Club was organized in 1939 to enable Macon students to participate more actively in campus affairs. The first goal was reached last Spring when the club was granted a permanent place on President's Council.

ACTIVITY COUNCIL

Activity Council—the council that is genuinely active both willingly and of necessity. The Committee of each department of the Y. W. C. A. are Activity Council. Though each girl has her particular job to help keep the "Y" activities on the campus running. Activity Council is a unit, and as a single body performs essential tasks.

ATHLETICS

BETWEEN THE LINES

Kick that goal! The spirit of '43, the vim of '44, the purple pep of '46, and the Tri-K strength of '45 battle in Thanksgiving soccer games.

The basketball spirit rises again as now Frosh, now Soph, now Junior, now Senior tries to put all those balls in one basket.

Tennis is a woman's racket at Wesleyan.

Then comes the blue ribbon day of the horse show.

In the Spring comes the swimming meet with speed, smoothness of motion, the sheen of colored lights on green water as a human ferris wheel goes round and round in the feature aquatic stunt.

Ping - pong bouts, feminine archness aimed straight at the bull's eye, a golf game when Spring is in the grass—these are a part of the sporting life at Wesleyan.

And all through the year Wesleyannes strive for the glory of being "on the team," the thrill of going down the field together.

First row: Martin, Kenner, Hoyt. . . Second row: Sutherland, Va., Willcox, Sutherland, Sybil, Coleman, Rees.

‘‘W’’ CLUB

The Block ‘‘W’’ Club honors the Wesleyan girls who are exceptional in sports. Each sport gives a certain number of points to participants. The girls who obtain 500 points during the school year are awarded a Block ‘‘W.’’ Those who have the ‘‘W’’ award, receive a purple star. Every Wesleyanne hopes to attain the goal of becoming a member of this club.

From homecoming soccer games played with numb feet and hands even more numb, the spring horse show with its first hot weather, steaming horses and new jodphurs, Wesleyannes are at play. The Wesleyan Athletic program has something to offer every girl all the year.

After soccer, then basketball. Excited shouts can be heard on the clear winter air as cage stars pivot, pass, and shout for the glory of their class.

Beginning right after spring holidays, swimming relieves the "home stretch" studying strain. Divers silhouetted against the glow of the sun have a Gothic frame. Splashes—fun and gurgling laughter.

Hiking, badminton, ping-pong, and hockey play their part in furnishing relaxation for Wesleyan girls. These sports are played throughout the school year.

The baseball nine follows the horse show in the spring sports sprint and tennis ends the season.

The Athletic Association this year has sponsored various games to bring the faculty into the sport light—with the students as rivals. One of the most exciting clashes yet was the volleyball game between the White Shirts—the Freshmen championship team—and the professors. There was a difference of one point in the final score, yet we dare not say in whose favor. In the spring there will be a soft ball game between the students and faculty.

SOCCER

First row: Jones, Pound, Bruner, Amyx, Bovaird. . . Second row: Spear, Smith, Weaver, Alexander, Goodrich, Pim, Lindsey, Wright, Mathews, Crook. . . Third row: Dasher, Sanders, Rees

The tilts started a series of four games between the classes. The memory of twisted knees, turned ankles, and bruised elbows quickly faded away when the whistle blew at the kick-off. The Freshmen won a 6-2 victory over the opposing Sophomores. The Seniors were victors over the Juniors—the score being 4-2.

The second round of the tournament gave the winning honors to the Freshmen and Juniors. The Freshmen beat the Seniors 4-2. The Sophomore-Junior game drew to a fast-closing tie. After a five-minute over time period, the score was still 0-0.

SOCCER

First row: Sutherland. . . .
 Second row: Mitchell, Cotton, Milton, Fant, Coleman, Methvin, Stapleton, Poitevint, Shipley, Hoyt. . . .
 Third row: Lachmund, Colquitt, Joiner, Martin, Griffin, Whatley, Wilkin.

First row: Worley, Dyal, Thurman, Barge, Pim, Harmon, Stewart, Kollock. . . .
 Second row: Kinnett, Brison, Everett, Rumble, Horton, Miller, Patterson, Smith, Norton, Matteson. . . .
 Third row: Yates, Lott, Gallagher, Clary, Lasseter, Cotton.

The Juniors won 1-0 by a try of five penalty kicks. Elinor Rees took the penalty kicks for the Juniors and Rebecca Shipley bravely defended the Sophomore goal. Sarah Griffin kicked for the Sophomores and Irene Pound expertly defended the Junior goal.

In the next round, the Juniors and Seniors met again. Both teams fought hard to the finish, but the Juniors won a close 4-3 victory.

The Freshmen purple met the Juniors, their sister class, in the final game of the season. The Juniors were defeated by 6-4 and the Freshmen came through the whole soccer season without losing a game. Congratulations to you, Freshmen. We hope you can keep such a record your four years at Wesleyan.

S O C C E R I N A C T I O N

Thanksgiving Day officially opened the annual soccer season for Wesleyan girls with the usual array of colors which designate the different classes and their supporters:

FRESHMEN—the Purple and White

SOPHOMORES—Tri K Red and White

JUNIORS—the Yellow and Green

SENIORS—the Golden Heart

Team Captains: Eleanor Hoyt, Buff Kenner, Peggy Worley, and Elinor Rees.

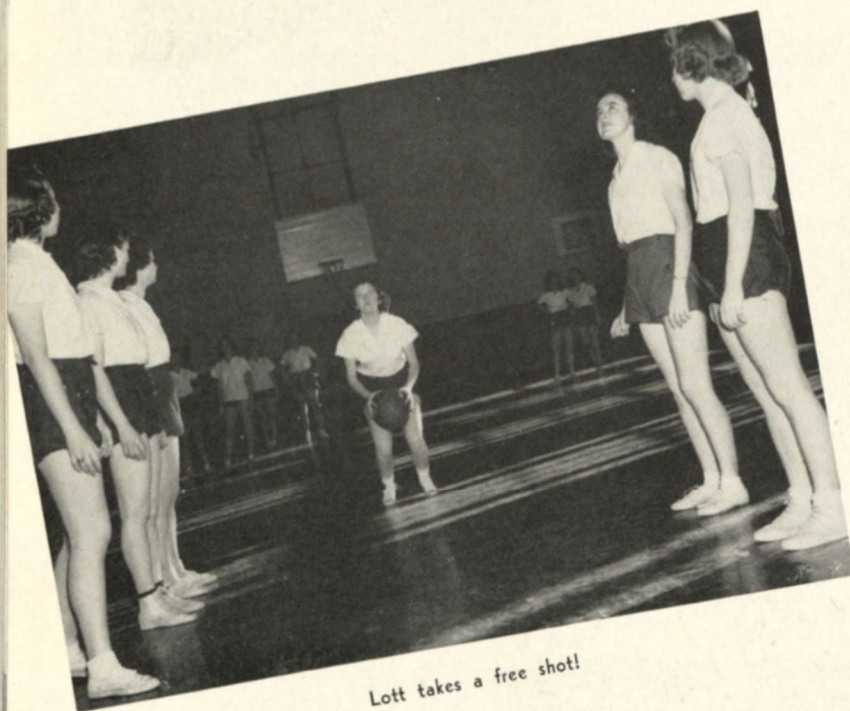

FRESHMEN

Lott takes a free shot!

BASKETBALL

'43 Basketball Captains: Eleanor Hoyt, Virginia Sutherland, Shellie Lasseter, and Mary Louise Willcox.

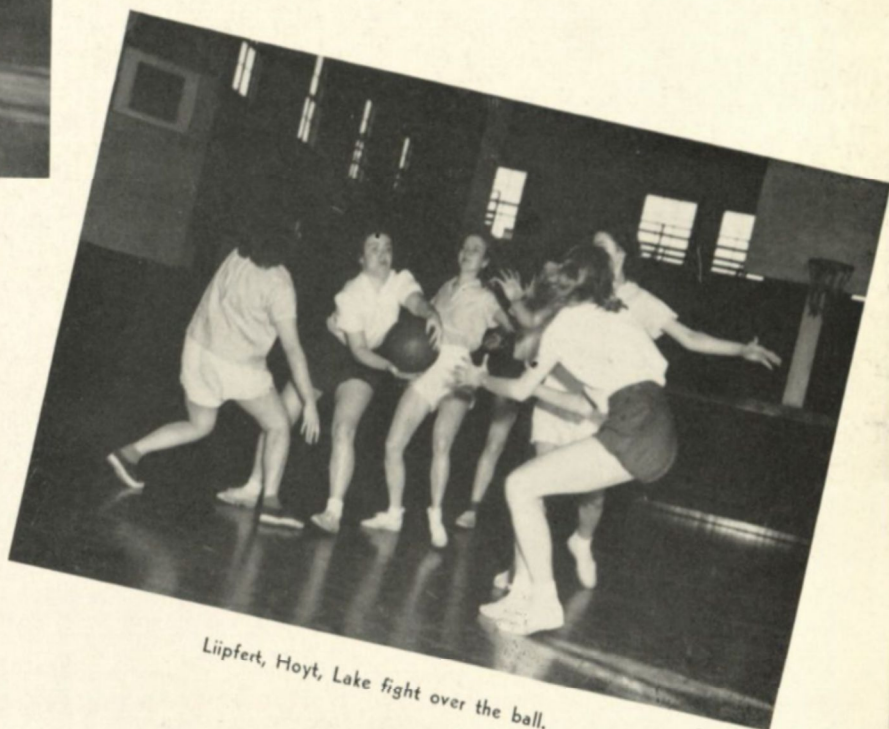

Swift action on the court.

The freshmen and senior classes came out victorious in the opening games of the basketball series. The seniors defeated the juniors, 29-27, and the freshmen defeated the sophomores, 24-17.

When the two winning teams met, the freshmen team won over the seniors 32-27. The juniors were eliminated after their defeat by the sophomores by a score of 44-32.

In the semi-finals, sister classes, the seniors and the sophomores, clashed. The sophomores defeated the senior team with a 47-21 victory.

Lipfert, Hoyt, Lake fight over the ball.

JUNIORS

BASKETBALL

The final game between the Freshmen and the Sophomores featured smooth pass-work and accurate shooting. The guards played a fast game, and were speedy at predicting and breaking up trick plays. The championship game was a spirited and hotly-contested match on the sidelines as well as the court.

Sophomore captain Eleanor Hoyt and Jane Stapleton were high scorers in the championship game with 10 points each. Of the entire five games, Jane Stapleton was individual highscorer with the total of 69 points.

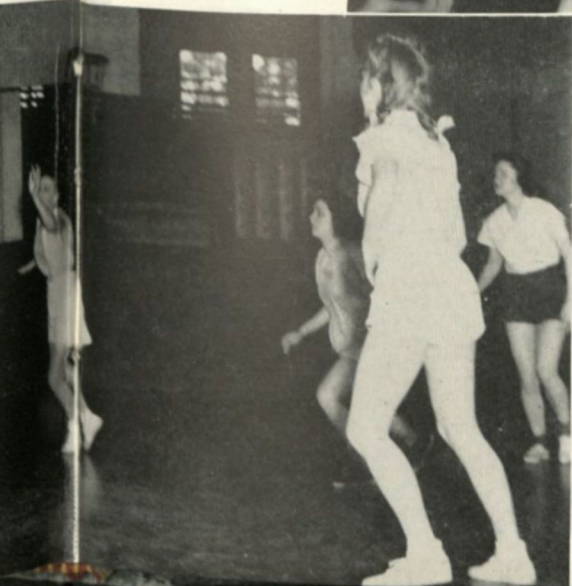

SENIORS

BASKETBALL

Although the Freshmen defeated them in the first game of the series, the Tri-K class came back to defeat the Freshmen by winning the final game and the championship through their consistent playing. The final score of the last game of the series was Freshmen 15, Sophomores 29, making the Sophs basketball champs for '43.

MINOR SPORTS

Wesleyan girls displayed their expert horsemanship in the Macon Fall Horse Show. Betty Dunwoody and Blanche Coleman rode away with winnings enough to give Wesleyan a majority in the ladies part of the show on October 19. The girls who like to ride enjoy gym class instruction in horse back riding. During the year there are many moonlight rides and supper afterwards.

Blanche Coleman riding Rocky.

Archery is among the many minor sports at Wesleyan. The equipment is furnished and many girls enjoy this outdoor as well as indoor sport.

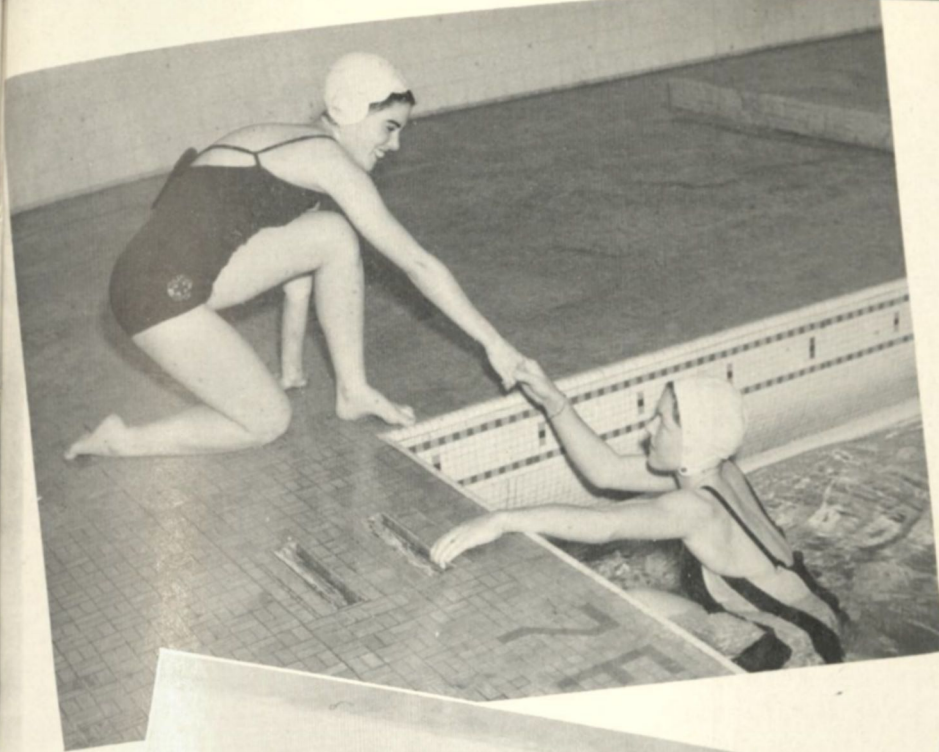

Hiking on woodland paths or country roads is pleasant. Enthusiasts win W's for hiking 300 miles. The spring swimming meet, ping-pong, badminton, tennis, and golf tournaments round out the athletic program.

Sybil looks as though she is pleased with her score.

After soccer season, the soccer field is dotted with the freshmen, trying their skill in hockery.

Catcher Sue Lott talks the situation over with pitcher Joyce Gallagher as Jane Kollock and Shellie Lasseter await their turn to bat.

Bicycles are available in the Gym to any girl who wants to ride. On Saturday mornings Wesleyan girls can be seen pedaling up to Couch's or to the Pit for a morning snack.

Elinor Ress and Sue Lott are deciding who shall serve.

Tennis is an all-year-round sport even though the tournaments are held in the spring. Wesleyannes learn to play in Gym and demonstrate their ability in the spring matches.

SUPERLATIVES

Our Superlatives reflect the spirit of the "Oldest and Best" — her beauty, poise, leadership, wisdom and mental vitality, creativeness, friendliness and understanding, sincerity, vivacity, and charm. They express the finest of Wesleyan.
